World Family Summit +1 – Aracaju, Brazil 2005

The World Family Summit +1 was organized by the World Family Organization with the support of the United Nations - Department of Economic and Social Affairs/NGO-Section/UN-NGO-Informal Regional Network, hosted by the Government of Sergipe State, Brazil, and held in Aracaju City, from December 3 to 8, 2005.

The theme of the Summit, Investing in Development: Working the Millennium Development Goals at the Local Level and in the Family provided a very fertile ground for discussions on innovative ways to implement the Millennium Development Goals and adopt a Practical Plan of Action that can be easily executed at the Local Level, prioritizing Family focused social public policies, with full participation of the community and the Family. Around the world, the great engagement of citizens, families and communities is becoming a feature of many governments and both public and private organizations.

Families are expecting to be involved and to have a say in the business of local governments and in the political decisions that affect their interests. The implementation of the Millennium Development Goals by the Local Authorities focusing public social policies and the actions recommended on the Family are renewing commitments to effective engagements of all sectors of society to deliver better results for families and communities.

In many different contexts and at local, state, regional, national and international levels there are public, private, NGOs and other community organizations engaging in ways that are making a difference and that are worth hearing about and learning from.

The Summit provided delegates with the opportunity to hear and share examples of contemporary practices, theories and policies from around the world, connected to the benefits of the implementations of the Millennium Development Goals at the Local Level. The program was designed to open dialogue and encourage the development and maintenance of productive relationships between all stakeholders.

Investing in Development: Achieving the Millennium Development Goals at the Local Level and in the Family

Practical Plan of Action 2006-2015

To implement the Sanya Declaration

Objective 1: Eradicate Extreme Poverty and Hungry

Strategy
1. Adopt development strategies sufficiently ambitious.
2. Make those strategies the basis for the expansion of public investments, capacity-building, good governance, human rights promotion, and for the involvement of the civil society, the business community and resource mobilization.
3. Implement those strategies through transparent and inclusive procedures: governments, NGOs, business community and national and international partners.
4. Identify eligible places for the "express way" status: places that, due to good governance and absorption capacity, are already fit to receive investments according to their development strategies.
5. Develop a set of actions with a quick response: health, education, housing, nutrition, gender equality, agriculture, environmental management, public management and infra-structure.
6. Align those strategies at the State and local levels and in the Family.
7. Ensure reliable early diagnosis, monitoring, evaluation and information systems.
